Workers Facing Eviction

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union official announced Tuesday that the copper operations of Britannia Mining and Smelting Co. at nearby Britannia Beach will be closed within six months.

Union sources said the 800 workers involved may be evicted from their company-owned homes within the same period.

ACTION SOUGHT

Ken Smith, western board member of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, announced the imminent closure. He said all 22 B.C. members of parliament have been asked to demand emergency action from the federal government to prevent the shutdown.

He added the union would use "any necessary means" to prevent evictions. Asked if that meant force might be used, Mr. Smith merely repeated his initial statement.

FINANCIAL POSITION

He said C. E. Roper, president of Howe Sound Co. of New York, which controls Britannia Mining, had been to Vancouver during the weekend and given the union a letter outlining the firm's financial position.

Depressed copper prices were blamed for the shutdown.

Provincial Liberal leader Arthur Laing said Tuesday night he has asked Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan to consider provincial subsidies to keep the copper mine in production.

What Have We Here?

Mysterious phenomenon photographed near Amarillo, Tex., looks like trail of something bright, moving erratically. J. G. Kirby of Dallas, who took picture, said he and his family saw the flying diamond-shaped object, indicated by white arrow. U.S. Air Force theorized the light was "radiation vapor." Kirby took the picture in August, 1956, and his film was immediately seized by the U.S. government, to be released only yesterday. — (AP Photofax.)

Travels at 1,000 MPH Says Coast Guard

From AP and UP reports

Presence of a dazzling flying object with a mystery ray capable of halting car engines and possibly sapping strength of humans began to sound less like science fiction and more like fact last night with these startling developments:

1. It was spotted by eye and tracked by radar on a U.S. Coast Guard cutter where navigational instruments fixed its speed at more than 1,000 miles an hour.

2. Special U.S. Air Force and Federal Bureau of Investigation inspectors are alerted to watch for the object and are checking hard on all reported sightings.

3. It was observed by an electronics engineer from the U.S. Air Force missile centre at White Sands who reported its rays stalled his car and 10 others on the highway nearby.

4. The mystery "orange ball of fire" has been reported by scores of civilians, farmers, servicemen, policemen, clergymen and others, in many parts of southern United States but mainly near secret military installations in the Southwest.

5. A man said he entered a landed "object" which had stalled his car, found it occupied by four men and two women who spoke "with a German accent" and told him to tell people "we're doing no harm."

'We're Being Watched'

A U.S. Coast Guard commander reported the brilliant flying object hovered over the cutter Sebago in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday, making crew members "feel they were being observed."

Cmdr. C. H. Waring, skipper, said the object resembling the star Venus then streaked into a cloud at a speed estimated by navigation instruments at 1,000 miles an hour.

Waring said crewmen got a fix on it with a sextant and also tracked it by radar, enabling them to get a rough calculation of its altitude and speed.

The object resembled a star, Waring said, "yet we could not really describe its shape. We weren't scared, but it puzzled us."

The object was first sighted about 200 miles south of the mouth of the Mississippi River at 5:10 a.m. CST, and was picked up by radar for 27 minutes until it vanished into a cloud bank at about 2,000 feet, Waring said.

It was visible to the naked eye for three seconds at 5:22 a.m. while it appeared to be moving in a great arc, he said.

Waring said the radar "bips" of the object were "very strong."

Radar tracking showed the object reached speeds up to 1,000 miles an hour, Cmdr. J. N. Schrader, search and rescue officer, said in New Orleans.

In Alamogordo, New Mexico, an electronics engineer apparently convinced air force authorities today that he saw the unidentified flying object which mysteriously makes automobile engines stall.

The engineer, James Stokes, 42, was questioned at length by Lt.-Col. John McCurdy, public information officer for the air force missile development centre at White Sands proving grounds.

Egg-Shaped with Rings

Stokes, who works at the centre, said he made notes of what he saw when his and other automobiles stalled on U.S. highway 54 at White Sands Monday. He described the object as egg-shaped—"like a pulled-out pistol target with rings around it."

Stokes said it was about two miles away, at an altitude of 3,000 to 5,000 feet.

Col. McCurdy said he was "personally satisfied" with the engineer's story. McCurdy said Stokes would be given a thorough medical examination and a radiation count test.

Later yesterday, Col. McCurdy disclosed that radar technician Don Clark, 32, reported a "stationary cigar-shaped object giving off an orange glow" over the San Andres mountains.

Stokes said he and 10 other motorists were stalled when the object came in sight.

"I was shook," he said. "I believe the object or phenomena was controlled by an intelligence." He said the object, which flitted around the country-side, left a "heat wave" in its wake as if from a giant sun lamp.

Two military patrols reported Sunday that they observed an unidentified flying object in the sky over the isolate "Trinity" site at White Sands where the first atom bomb was exploded in 1945. Residents at Santa Fe and Alamogordo, at Durango, Colo., and at Casper, Wyo., also reported yesterday they had seen such objects.

Maj.-Gen. Leighton I. Davis, commander of the missile development centre, appointed a "centre co-ordinator" to make an official investigation of these reports.

In Kearney, Neb., a Californian said he came upon a cigar-shaped "space ship" on the Nebraska prairie and spoke with the four men and two women inside it.

Reinhold Schmidt, 48, a grain dealer from Bakersfield, Calif., said the inhabitants of the "Whatnik" spoke in English and German and told him "In time you will find out what we are doing."

After 20 minutes of pleasant conversation, Schmidt said, he got out of the flying machine and it rose silently upward, "like a helicopter."

Greenish Fluid Left

An FBI agent from Grand Island, Neb., was dispatched to Kearney to investigate Schmidt's story.

Police chief Thurston Nelson meanwhile backed up some details of Schmidt's claim.

He said he found the footprints of two men approaching a single set of footprints, presumably Schmidt's, in a sandy expanse outside Kearney.

The three footprints then advanced together and suddenly disappeared, as if they had been yanked upwards, Nelson said.

Police said they also found a greenish, grease-like fluid about the area where Schmidt said he visited with the "Whatnik" inhabitants.

Schmidt drove into Kearney late yesterday, white-faced and asking to see a minister.

He said he was driving near Kearney in south-central Nebraska on a grain-buying expedition when he spotted a silvery object which looked like a navy blimp.

"I got within 60 feet of it and my car stopped," he said. "I got out and walked closer. It was 100 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 14 feet high, and standing on four posts.

"As I approached, a ramp like

Car-Stop Badly Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A device capable of disrupting the operation of motor vehicles or other mechanical equipment is one of the things the armed forces would like to see developed.

But Leonard Hardland, chief engineer of the National Inventors Council, said yesterday in response to an inquiry that he does not know of any research in the U.S. aimed at producing a device that could stall automobiles or cause radios to fade.

Such happenings have been reported in the last several days in the southwest U.S. in connection with the reported sighting of a mystery object in the skies.

Promoters Raided

RCMP Subpoena 50 In $10,000,000 Case

OTTAWA (CP)—Subpoenas were served on about 50 persons in Montreal, Toronto and Calgary Tuesday while RCMP and federal revenue officials seized documents from homes and offices of seven Toronto promoters in an income tax evasion investigation involving possibly $10,000,000.

A high government source told a reporter Tuesday night the subpoenas were served on persons for testimony at later hearings as revenue department investigations proceed. These witnesses were expected to be able to add to information in the documents seized in Toronto.

NOT UNDER SUSPICION

The government source said that those from whom the documents were seized were not necessarily under suspicion, but their records included transactions of two men—one in Toronto and the other in Montreal—whose activities are the centre of revenue department interest.

No names of individuals or firms were disclosed, however, and no one was arrested.

Revenue Minister Nowlan told a reporter that he does not foresee any further seizures by his department officials or the RCMP.

FURTHER ACTION

"But of course as the investigation proceeds it may be necessary to take further action in connection with it," he said.

He indicated that this would result only if a study of documents already seized discloses information requiring further investigations.

Earlier, a revenue department spokesman said the raids were on the Toronto homes and offices of seven stock promoters. Eighteen premises were visited.

France Gets Leader

PARIS (Reuters) — The National Assembly early today overwhelmingly approved economist Felix Gaillard as premier.

He is the youngest man to guide France's government since Napoleon became first consul in 1799. He was 38 Tuesday.

He demanded special powers to save the franc and pledged to "defend the housewife's shopping basket" in a speech to the assembly Tuesday.

Ike Speeds Up Chins-Up Talk

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower last night scheduled a major scientific report to the nation for Thursday night, the same day the Russians may announce new achievements in celebrating the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The "hurry-up" address replaces that scheduled for Nov. 13.

The White House announced that the president would deliver a nationwide radio-television address of "major importance" on science and security.

The White House gave no details. But the address presumably is part of the president's previously-announced plans for a series of chin-up addresses to reassure Americans as a result of Russia's spectacular feats in the satellite-missile field.

It was possible that the chief executive also might disclose some U.S. scientific developments that would take at least a bit of the edge off the sensational announcements coming out of Moscow in recent weeks.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said yesterday that Russia apparently is ahead of the United States in some areas of guided missile development. But he said he felt sure the United States could catch up.

Dulles said the U.S. would demonstrate that it too can put a satellite into an orbit around earth. Presumably referring to the effect of the Soviet satellite on U.S. allies, he said a U.S. satellite would be helpful psychologically.

The secretary also said Russia's increased weapons know-how posed a danger so serious that the free nations had no alternative except to band closer together in their military and scientific programs.

Muttnik Jams SPCA, Hurt Dogs Left Lying

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three painfully injured dogs lay unattended on city streets for three hours yesterday because telephone lines to the SPCA were jammed with calls protesting Russia's dog-carrying satellite.

Tom Hughes, executive director of the SPCA, urged people to address their protests to the Russian embassy in Ottawa.

"We've enough to do looking after the welfare of animals in B.C.," he said.

He said the dogs were struck by cars, but citizens were unable to telephone the SPCA because of the scores of anti-Muttnik calls that flooded the SPCA exchange.

Chunk of Missile Bounces in Egypt

CAIRO (UP) — A mysterious flaming object bounced into the yard of an engineering school in Alexandria yesterday. Russian scientists who rushed to the scene from the atoms for peace exhibit here identified it as part of a short-range missile.

The object, three inches long, two inches wide and less than an inch thick, was made of white rubber and equipped with three lenses.

The newspaper Al Akhbar reported a fireball streaked across the Cairo sky Monday.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

I ARRIVED home to find my wife nearly helpless with laughter.

"Calm down," I said. "Nothing is as funny as that."

She stared at me for a moment, and broke into a louder storm of giggles. Had somebody pinned a humorous sign to my vest?

"All right, catch your breath," I urged. "Now, what's so amusing?"

"You," she managed to choke out.

"Don't tell me that after all these years you have just found out what a comic figure I am?"

"Knew it all the time," she gasped. "But now, it's this"—and she pointed to four school exercise books, which I recognized with horror.

"So you've found my diary," I said, and lunged toward her.

She grabbed the books and danced away, still quivering with mirth. "I've read it through," she said.

"Never mind that nasty smirk," I ordered her. "I was only in my teens when I wrote those entries. I know they're pompous."

"I laughed so hard I nearly choked," my wife said. "I had to get a drink of water. Let me read this bit about the glorious colors of the sunset."

"Don't rub it in," I pleaded.

"And about that girl, and how you were glad she would talk to you, because you didn't have the nerve to talk to her. Ha! Ha!"

"Glad you found it entertaining," I said. She went on for a little while, drawing attention to various richly humorous passages.

* * *

Then I read it for a while. In place of shame, I felt a nostalgia creeping upon me as I rambled through the spidery lines. There was a great deal of self-reproach in the journal.

I read how I had berated myself for neglecting to study at school and for failing to keep the diary going regularly. There were numberless resolves to do better, followed by gaps of weeks and months in the entries.

Now and then I came across clear, simple statements of fact, such as: "Dad caught five trout. Took two of them to the X . . . .'s" And I wished that there had been more entries like that.

I saw my old self dimly through the diary, like a familiar object perceived through water, sometimes dim and crooked, but for an instant here and there definite and exact.

What I saw was an awkward young hobbledehoy who thought too much about himself and did not pay enough attention to people and things.

And then I looked up and caught my wife's eye, and we both broke out laughing again.

Hearings End, Sifting Starts

OTTAWA (CP)—A three-man royal commission has begun to sift millions of words of testimony and to study hundreds of exhibits in an effort to decide whether the CPR should take firemen off diesels on its freight and yard service.

The commission, headed by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, ended hearings Tuesday on the CPR-union dispute—eight months and one day after they began.

While You Abednik We Paint It Rednik

TORONTO (CP) — Fred Zaplitny, CCF member of Parliament for Dauphin, resorted to verse yesterday to mark Russia's achievement in dispatching a second satellite into the sky.

The Toronto Telegram carries the poem, titled "From Nikita to Ike."

You Yankees with your rock and roll
Are living in a rutnik.
We may not have a Gallup poll,
But, Comrades, we have Muttnik.
You think our homes are thatched with straw,
Our roads are like a bognik.
We beat you Yankees to the draw,
We're putting on the dognik.
You think the way Nikita raves
He's crazy as a loonik.
But while you talk of smoother shaves,
We'll beat you to the moonnik.
And when we get up to the moon,
Before you're out of bednik,
We'll make you sing a different tune,
We'll paint the darn thing rednik.

Army Getting New Blue Cap For Old Beret

Something new in Canadian army headgear — a classy new blue forage cap—is to replace the old beret.

The forage cap will have a black patent leather visor and black chin strap. The band around the new hat will be in the soldier's corps colors.

The new hat is to be issued to all soldiers as soon as sufficient numbers are manufactured. The familiar beret will still be worn on routine duties, but will be replaced by the forage cap for walking out and ceremonial parades.

How to Build A Tree House

Where Did You Go? Out What Did You Do? Nothing

By ROBERT PAUL SMITH

Chapter Nine

(A clear and engaging look back into childhood, the best-selling book, "Where Did You Go?" "Out." "What Did You Do?" "Nothing," continues here today.)

When I was a kid, the way you built a hut was this: some kid would, in his wanderings, come back to the block busting with news. We would skulk over to the rockpile in the vacant lot, exchange 14 or 15 passwords, swear 11 or 20 lifetime vows, and put our heads together. We whispered. There was nobody within a radius of half a block, but we whispered because it was a secret. I still think that's right.

What the kid had found out was that somewhere in town, a new house was going up. This meant two things to us.

First, it meant that for some time, whenever we didn't know what to do with ourselves, we could go over and watch the men building a house. That was entirely wonderful: the equivalent with today's kids, I guess, would be—well, the mind boggles. Three weeks at Los Alamos, I guess, with Jackie Gleason.

You could see men with wheelbarrows push a wheelbarrow across a plank that spanned an excavation. The plank went up and down very satisfactorily. It looked as if the men would fall off, perhaps under a wheelbarrowful of cement. They never did, but we hoped. You could watch men mixing cement, in the biggest container any of us had ever seen. What a boat that would have made! You could see them make the mound of sand, and scoop a crater out of the top, and pour in the cement from the bag (a smoke screen, like in The Boy Allies), and stir in the water and take a hoe and paddle for hours in this beautiful slop, like they kept telling us at home not to do with our gravy and mashed potatoes. You could see men hit a nail every time, and drive a nail home in three strokes.

Muscles, Swearing

You could hear Italian being talked, you could see men climbing ladders and getting powdered absolutely white with cement, you could see muscles bulging and heavy things being lifted. You could smell sweat, and hear swearing such as you had never heard before, and guys hollering at each other until they turned purple.

You could sit on the side walk and be close enough to touch a man eating a sandwich made out of a whole loaf of bread. You could see a man climb to the ridgepole and tack on a green bough, and then you could see a whole lashing of cementy, garlicky, spitting, nose-blowing between the fingers onto the ground, laughing, hollering brown-moustached men drinking whisky out of a bottle, water out of a hose, beer out of a barrel, wine out of a jug.

We sat on the sidewalk, and once in a while they swore at us, and one day—surely the greatest day in the history of the world—one of the men gave me a bit of his sandwich.

Told Nobody

We sat and watched them, and every day when we went home we went to the rockpile and gave the passwords and swore the oaths, and we split to nobody about the new house. Because every day, sitting there we were thinking about the other thing that a new house going up meant to us.

It meant that we could steal. For our hut. Willie Sutton or Dillinger never planned a heist better. We had to time it close to the end of construction, because like all criminals, we had to justify our crime. Had we stolen when the house was still going up, it was possible that we might take something that was needed for the house. That was clearly immoral. We were one with Robin Hood and W. C. Fields. We planned to steal from the rich and give to the poor.

It was usually summer, and the evenings were long. It was hot, and there were scratch meals up and down the block, and you could get out on the block early. You could skulk down to where the new house was, you could nonchalantly stroll to the corner, pretending you were not aware you were dragging an express wagon behind you.

We Stole

At the corner, we synchronized our heads (lacking watches) and were off. From there on out it was the sack of Rome.

We stole shingles, shingle nails, two by fours, once a keg, a whole keg of nails, we loaded our pockets, our shirts, our knickerbockers (now, see, there's another thing about kids today; assuming there was anything to steal, without knickers, where would they carry their loot?) We stole siding, we stole rolls of tarpaper, lengths of pipe, pieces of stone, almost empty sacks, once we got a box of hinges and a linoleum knife — the most lethal-looking weapon man has ever made. We hooked doorknobs and scraps of cable, push-buttons and tiles, wallpaper and faucet handles.

We took anything that was not nailed down. And that was, literally, the test.

What we took was what was left over. Anything we didn't take, that night, was going back somewhere into limbo. It would not exist any more. We were doing them a favor. We were cleaning up. We were public-spirited citizens. We were heroes.

Where? Out

We went back to the lot by different routes, we stashed our loot. We went home and when somebody said, "Where were you?" we said, "Out," and when somebody said, "What were you doing until this hour of night?" we said, as always, "Nothing."

The other day, on my way to the parkway, I passed a house that had a yard, and in the yard there was a tree, and in the tree there was a treehouse.

And that treehouse was built by a carpenter. It had a floor, made of tongue-and-groove boarding, it had sides built of siding, it had a roof made of [illegible]

It was probably built from a plan by a carpenter. It probably has wrought-iron furniture in it, and a Rouault print on the wall.

There were no kids in it.

We didn't build treehouses that way. We hooked a hammer and we hooked some nails—do you suppose kids still straighten bent nails on a rock?—and we hooked some pieces of wood and a saw.

Reached High

We cut a piece of wood and reached as high up as we could with one foot, and there we nailed a crosspiece. It took us more than three strokes to drive a nail home. We stood on this crosspiece and reached as high up as we could with our hands and nailed a crosspiece up there. One kid hung from his hands by that crosspiece while we measured where his feet hung with his knees drawn up. We nailed a crosspiece there. We kept on doing this until we got seventy million feet in the air, where the first crotch of the tree was.

We horsed a couple of pieces of wood in place in the crotch and leaned against the branch, and then we got a piece of rowing and hulled that on the crotch somehow; we let down a piece of string with a basket on it, and hauled it up and down with messages, pieces of Tootsie Roll, and eventually, a kitten, just like in all the calendar drawings.

What we wanted was, of course, a rope ladder, so that once up we could haul it in, and be safe from any sort of intrusion. This was beyond our powers.

We were so high up in the empyrean we were on a level with the bedroom windows. You may think this was only one storey up in the air. How, then, do you account for the fact that the air was thin, and we were continually surrounded by eagles?

ELECTRICITY BY THE POUND?

Of course it's impossible. But if electricity could be bought that way, people would soon see how much more electricity they're using now than in previous years.

It's a matter of record that the average B.C. Electric residential customer now uses nearly three times as much electricity as in 1946, but is paying less per kilowatt hour.

It means that people are enjoying better and brighter home lighting, more electrical appliances and more comfortable electrical living with low-cost electricity – today's big bargain.

Canada Thinks Twice About Joint U.S. Defence

Not Automatic, Pearkes Explains

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Pearkes indicated Tuesday that the government has had second thoughts about committing the RCAF automatically to joint Canada-United States operations in the event of a national emergency.

He told Commons questioners that such committal would occur only "after consultation with the Canadian government and with the United States."

Mr. Pearkes announced Aug. 1 that Air Marshal Roy Slemon of the RCAF was to be deputy to Lt.-Gen. Earle Partridge of the United States Air Force, commander of an integrated North American air defence headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

"WITHIN SECONDS"

At that time he said the pooled operational control was to enable "instant action to be taken within seconds" of an emergency occurring. He added:

"In peacetime (the two commanders) will live and work together, will form one headquarters and will develop the plans and procedures required for the tremendously rapid decisions that will have to be taken in a war over this continent when instant action has to be taken within seconds."

"IF HOSTILE"

The headquarters would take over "as soon as a group of planes has been determined as being hostile."

Governmental endorsement of the plans to be drawn up by the headquarters "will include the action to be taken against a surprise attack," he said then.

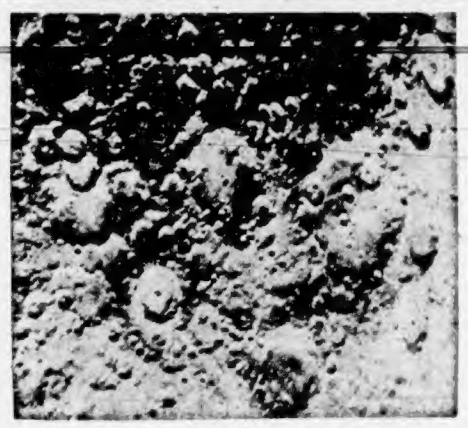

Mr. Pearkes' answers Tuesday to a series of critical questions indicated consultation also will be required after the emergency had occurred.

HOW FAR?

W. J. Henderson (L, Kingston), Liberal defence critic, asked how far Gen. Partridge can commit Canadian forces.

Mr. Pearkes replied:

"In the event of a national emergency occurring, Gen. Partridge, after consulting with the Canadian government and with the United States, would be able to commit American and Canadian forces in defence of this country."

VANCOUVER (CP)—And next, says Ald. George Miller, it may be pay-as-you-go municipal taxes.

Sky Show Promised

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP) — The head of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory Tuesday predicted an "amazing show" of flashing Soviet satellites over the United States next month.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple explained that Sputnik 1 was scheduled to reappear during the first two weeks of December while at the same time the latest satellite would make its first visible debut in U.S. skies.

STREAK OF FLAME

Dr. Whipple said the rocket of the first satellite would probably plunge to earth in a streak of flame sometime in that period to add to the man-made spectacle.

Experts here made any number of speculations on Sputnik II's significance from both a peaceful and military viewpoint.

Dr. Whipple said the Soviet satellites crammed 200 years of astronomy into the space of a month.

"ALMOS ANYTHING"

Dr. H. Guyford Stever, former chief scientist for the air force, said he believed the Russians "technologically can do almost anything they want."

Refused to Squeal, Girl Goes to Jail

TORONTO (BUP) — A Winnipeg girl who refused to "squeal" on her accomplice started an eight-month sentence yesterday.

Police said Irene Burunskill, 20, had defrauded four banks in Oshawa and five in Toronto of $2,700. Crown attorney Alex Hall described the crimes as planned by somebody else who was now "in possession of the fruits of the fraud."

CCF Will Ask:

What Are U.S. Ties Of B.C. Telephone?

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF Commons members served notice Tuesday they will dig into the relationships of the British Columbia Telephone Company with parent utility firms in the United States when a bill to increase its authorized capital comes before a House committee.

The measure, to increase authorized capital to $250,000,000 from the present $75,000,000, was given second reading—approval in principle — and referred to a standing committee.

In a Commons debate, Colin Cameron, CCF, Nanaimo, said CCF members on the committee will question what he said are interlocking relations with U.S. firms which owns B.C. Telephone. He also referred to evidence he said was found in an investigation of the company by federal anti-combines investigators.

Alex Macdonald, CCF, Vancouver Kingsway, said B.C. Telephone is controlled by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. He said there should be provisions that Canadians, and especially B.C. residents, should be able to purchase the proposed new stock issue.

Douglas Jung, PC, Vancouver Centre, sponsoring the private bill, said the present authorized capital of B.C. Telephone is insufficient to carry out a planned expansion program involving $150,000,000 in the next three years. In 1958, the company planned to spend $51,844,000 in expansion.

Public Service Bodies Investigation Sought

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Senate yesterday gave final reading to a bill to enable the Bell Telephone Company of Canada to double its capital from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Sen. David Croll suggested establishment of a joint standing committee of both houses to investigate the operation of public service corporations, which "grow and grow. They become bigger and bigger. That is not a healthy situation," he said.

New Attack on Parking Woes

FORMATION of a committee of property owners to work in conjunction with public bodies towards the creation of a separate parking commission is encouraging evidence of private initiative after many years of civic indecision. If as appears to be the intention this preliminary step leads to the establishment of an organization similar to Vancouver's Downtown Parking Corporation the result should be substantial relief of Victoria's rapidly growing parking problem throughout the business sector.

Various factors illustrate the urgency of this matter. There is the visible evidence of scarcity of curbside space for normal shopping requirements. There is the statement that Victoria's car population is increasing by 3,000 vehicles a year. Finally there is the warning that the number of metered spaces now in use will have to be sharply reduced to meet traffic requirements, new provisions of the Motor Vehicle Act and the unrestricted trend of the automobile industry towards longer and longer private cars. According to the city engineer, Mr. Garnett, the number of spaces which will have to be given up runs into several hundreds. This is necessary to enable the streets, many of them far too narrow for modern needs, to fulfil their primary purpose, which is the movement of traffic.

Where off-street parking appeared not so long ago as a desirable objective of traffic planning, now it has become imperative whether motorists like it or not. The streets simply cannot cope with the increasing volume of moving vehicles during the busy hours and provide curbside parking space at the same time. In the recent prohibition of parking on several streets between 4 and 6 p.m. motorists have been given a preview of what is in store for them on a larger scale in the near future.

It is to be hoped that this commendable move to form a parking commission can accomplish speedy results, because if the business of the city is to be maintained it is essential that the provision of adequate off-street facilities precede any extensive curtailment of present curbside space. Along with this will have to go efforts to educate motorists to use the new accommodation, for if the commission is to be self-supporting it will need sufficient revenue. That Victoria motorists are learning to use off-street facilities is demonstrated by the popularity of those offered free by some of the larger stores. There may be some difficulty, though—initially at least—in persuading them to pay for it at rates higher than those at the curbside.

A New Idea

IT has been pointed out by the Capital Region Planning Board that the omission of an auditorium from its finely conceived civic centre design was not an oversight but caused by two factors. First, because its size has never been determined and if for example it had to seat 6,000 people the structure would be too large for the Cathedral Hill site, and second, because the board has the idea that the Royal Theatre might be converted to this purpose.

A giant-size auditorium of the stadium type might well be ruled out of discussion on two counts: it would be too expensive, and confusing in its nature. There is no need to duplicate the Memorial Arena in any respect, nor need it provide for an audience of 6,000 people. Something more modest would be acceptable, and in view of apparent difficulties probably more easily realized. It is the board's second reservation therefore that arouses speculation.

Few would have thought of the Royal Theatre in terms of an auditorium of the kind so badly missing from the Victoria scene, and the board's thinking comes as a fresh conception. Any such development would of course involve expansion and wide rearrangement of facilities if the present theatre building could be acquired and transformed in such a new guise. Assuming such adaption is possible two virtues stand out; the cost would be much less and the auditorium would have its place in the proposed civic centre design. These are considerations of some weight.

The idea is possibly purely tentative but since the planning board has given it consideration it would be interesting to hear the board's idea in more detail. Apparently it has explored the feasibility of transforming the theatre into a suitable civic auditorium, and it would be enlightening to have its thoughts on the matter in full; for if the project is practical this might be one way in which an auditorium could be achieved fairly soon.

Canada's Test Laboratory

ALTHOUGH it may never make headlines Canada's new nuclear reactor, opened at Chalk River this week at a laid down cost of $57,000,000, is a solid achievement. Called the National Research Universal, or NRU, the reactor can develop the power of 200,000 kilowatts, by using enriched uranium moderated with heavy water. Its steady output will be in plutonium, itself a fissionable fuel, but the reactor was designed and built for the primary purpose of practical research in the applied uses of atomic energy for civil purposes. This, at the beginning of the atomic age, should have far-reaching consequences for this country.

There is little excitement about the production of cobalt 60, the heavily irradiated element which is taking the place of X-rays for the treatment of deep-seated cancer. Except to industrialists who one day may be using nuclear furnaces to produce electricity and turn factory wheels, there is little public interest in how metals behave under heat and stress; what combination of fissionable fuels give controllable results, and other questions of a scientific and highly technical nature. To understand NRU, it must be realized that it is the most powerful and best equipped atomic research laboratory anywhere in the West, if not also in the world. Its cost was considerable, but its life and usefulness should extend for many years.

A symbol of the atomic age, Canada's new reactor looks like any large power station. It will be staffed by 176 people, including operators, maintenance men, engineers and other technicians. The activated "pile" will be in operation 24 hours a day; and its testing tubes and other access equipment will be open daily to a wide range of nuclear experimentation extending from fissionable materials, moderators, metals and alloys to a long list of other express inquiries. One of the first of its uses will be to project and test the proper materials for use in the first Canadian nuclear electrical generating plant, to be built soon.

Interpreting the News:

Zhukov Ouster Clarifies

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

THE "release" of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov as Soviet defence minister got big headlines in newspapers all over the world.

Moscow announced the news briefly, without explanation.

Mystified diplomats believed at first that Zhukov headed for a bigger job, perhaps as premier.

But it appeared increasingly certain as the days passed that Zhukov was ousted because he was a threat to Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the Russian Communist Party, as No. 1 leader.

In control of the armed forces, Zhukov was in a position of great power. Experts on Russia had speculated on the possibility that one day the Army might take over supreme authority from the Communist Party.

This thought apparently occurred to Khrushchev, too. But he controlled the Communist Party machine, which reaches into every village in the Soviet Union, and he decided to act. He won out.

Bubbling over with good humor, Khrushchev turned up at a Turkish embassy reception. He told the foreign correspondents who besieged him with questions that Zhukov would get a job corresponding to his "experience and qualifications."

By attending the reception, Khrushchev exposed the falsity of the campaign in which Russia had accused the United States and Turkey of plotting to attack Syria.

In the United Nations, Russian and Syrian spokesmen continued to blow up the alleged threat to peace. But it was an anti-climax.

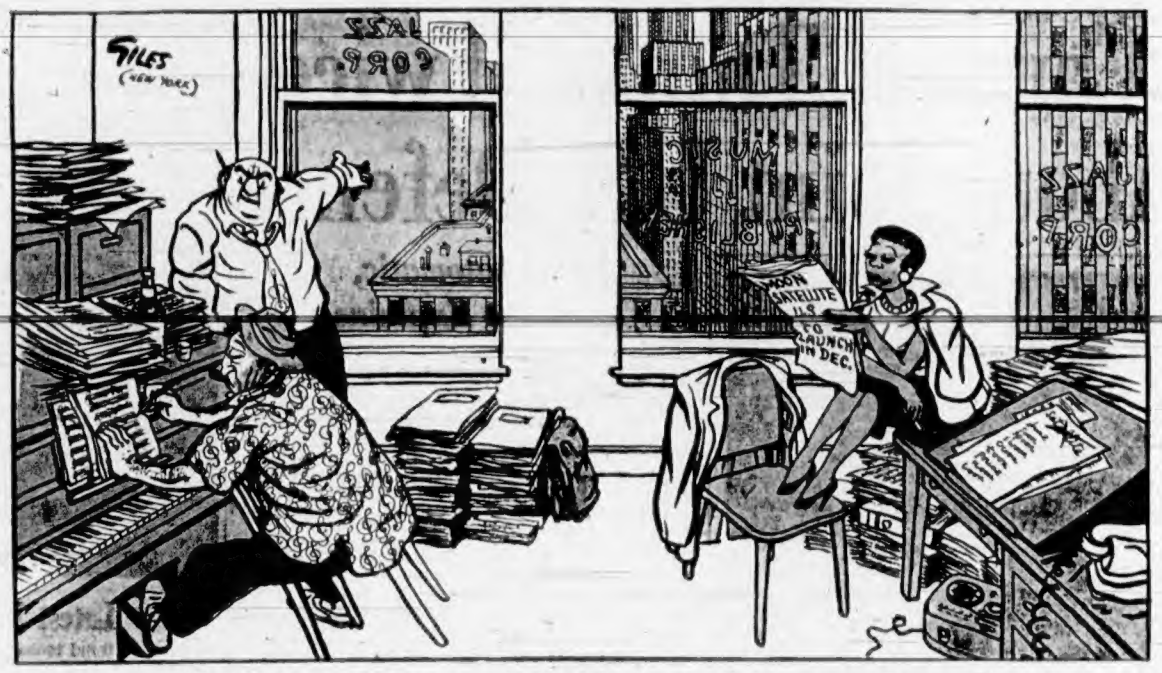

Russia's months-long stream of threats to Western countries, combined with its testing of an inter-continental ballistic missile and its launching of the Sputnik earth satellite, spurred the members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to action.

* * *

It was announced that heads of state of the 15 NATO allies, including President Eisenhower, would meet in Paris on December 16 to tighten up their co-operation for defence against Communist aggression.

This was the last thing Russia would have desired. But it was thanks to Russian bellicosity that a tightening was decided upon.

In an interesting sidelight to the Zhukov-Khrushchev developments, President Tito of independent Communist Yugoslavia announced that his lumbago was bothering him. Hence, he said, he would be unable to attend the big celebration in Moscow of the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Tito apparently foresaw that the speeches about Communist unity would have a hollow ring.

ANOTHER general has written about the last war, deprecating the role of Churchill. This is a favorite and profitable diversion; it helps to sell the book.

It is a little difficult to believe, however, that Churchill was a rank amateur at military strategy, as this author says, if as he also says Churchill sometimes was right and the generals wrong.

Have you ever wondered where paper clips go? Like buttons they don't wear out, yet a fresh supply is a never-ending office demand.

A Washington committee has investigated the fate of 100,000 clips and discovered that only one-fifth of them were used for their original purpose. Of the remaining 80,000 this is what happened:

3,196 were used as pipe cleaners; 5,308 were used as nail cleaners; 5,434 became toothpicks or ear-scratchers; 19,413 served as stakes during card games; 14,163 were broken or twisted out of recognition during telephone conversations; 7,200 ended their office careers to become makeshift hooks on suspender belts and brassieres.

The remainder, dropped on the floor, were swept up—or swallowed by small children!

"Guide Thou the Empire wide," do we implore,
"And prosper Canada from shore to shore."

A lady I met on Sunday almost backed me into a corner when, referring to the quotations in this space that morning on the subject of women, she said:

I played it safe by reminding her of what Tolstoy said.

A player in the Seniors' Golf Tournament here passed this verse to a local friend, who passed it to me, who passes it to you. Some bright morning when you're too pleased with yourself, scan it and note. It's called "The Indispensable Man."

Some time when you are feeling important,
Some time when your ego's in bloom,
Some time when you take it for granted
That you are the best qualified in the room.

Some time when you think that your going
Would leave an unfillable hole,
Just follow this simple direction,
And see how it humbles your soul.

Take a bucket and fill it with water,
Put your hand in it up to the wrist,
Take it out and the hole that's remaining
Is a measure of how you'll be missed.

You may splash all you wish as you enter,
You may stir up the water galore,
But stop and just in a minute
It looks much the same as before.

Now the moral of this little lesson
Is to do just the best you can.
Be proud of yourself but remember,
There is no indispensable man.

Not too nice a thought, sometimes.

Internationalization of Transport

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

MORE people are travelling farther than at any period in history. By sea, air and rail long-distance travel is increasing all over the world, though in some cases the total number of passengers carried — by rail for example — is decreasing because of the great increase in road transport over shorter distances. At the same time the degree of competition is decreasing.

The would-be traveller comes face to face with the problem when he comes to book his ticket. Shipping lines will quote him the same fare between any two ports and the only element of competition is the degree of comfort and service provided. Airline A may offer him champagne with his "complimentary" meals, Airline B may offer caviare.

The experienced traveller may know that airline A has more comfortable seats and more modern aircraft but the innocent will be unaware of the technical differences and as often as not the equivalent equipment is identical.

A similar state of affairs applies to sea travel. Ships vary in speed, comfort and service but the fare is the same for similar accommodation. The experienced traveller may learn that one line provides better food than another, that one ship has stabilizers and another has not, but the inexperienced will be unaware of the difference and even the significance of some technical developments.

* * *

Air transport is largely controlled by governments — sea travel by the operators themselves. In the modern world a business man with enough capital to operate an overseas airline would find it virtually impossible to start in business.

Most probably landing rights will be refused on the grounds that existing services are adequate. In the unlikely event of that difficulty being overcome he will have to secure admission to the International Air Transport Association, which is not conducting a recruiting campaign for new members. If he fails to do that he will find that no recognized travel agent will be able to sell tickets on his behalf under penalty of losing his agency for the established airlines.

A similar position exists at sea. The Atlantic Shipping Conference—an association of shipping lines — controls Atlantic fares and even conditions under which passages may be granted.

Although the millionaire able to buy and operate ships would find no difficulty in getting in and out of terminal ports he would again come up against the difficulty of selling passages. The approved travel agent may only handle his business at the risk of losing the agency for the Conference lines. Other shipping "conferences" control routes to other parts of the world.

* * *

The victim every time is the consumer.

The present position represents the swing of the pendulum to the opposite extreme of what existed before the First World War when competition between shipping companies was so fierce that passengers were actually being carried below cost by the bigger companies with deliberate —and successful—intention of driving the smaller companies into bankruptcy. Those were the days when it was possible to travel from England to Canada for the equivalent of $15 and to Australia for $40. It led to abuses—including unseaworthy ships, grossly inadequate food—and it is not without justification that the shipping companies claim that these abuses have been ended. In matters of public safety there are excellent reasons for some measure of control—but the position has been reached today where the consumer has become the victim of international agreements on transport.

In air and sea travel there are plenty of travellers who would willingly sacrifice some of the standards of service and catering for a cheaper fare. New liners are being equipped with amenities which the passenger has to pay for and is given no opportunity of doing without. The only measure of competition existing is in standards of service, and some airlines and shipping companies claim that this is becoming too severe. Many passengers would gladly accept lower standards for a compensating reduction in fares.

* * *

If there is justification for international control and agreements in transport, and most people agree that there is, there is equal justification for consumer representation and if necessary governmental arbitration. The easist way is for government control on standards of safety — as exists for British ships through Board of Trade regulations—and intervention to prevent restraint of trade against travel agents booking for independent operators. The latter is the greatest problem.

As a travel agent put it to me before I left London for Canada: it would be easy to prevent companies withdrawing an agency but it would be quite another matter to deal with a company which was "fully committed" when the travel agent wished to reserve a passage for a customer. Whatever was done would have to be backed by strong moral persuasion and possibly a minimum fare based on minimum standards of transport and adequate safety. This would prevent fare-slashing to drive newcomers into bankruptcy and leave the way wide open for competition above the minimum.

A New York operator is planning a $50 passage across the Atlantic and coffee shop meals at prices endorsed on the passage contract. Adequate food could be purchased for an additional $25. The result would be fares virtually half the present rate. Most travelers hope the venture will succeed.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

A MAN'S brightest ideas often come to him in the peace and quiet of his car, driving all alone in the thick of the traffic. There is a sort of sweet isolation in being in your car with five thousand cars ahead of you and five thousand behind, and nobody able to do a thing but just sit there and move when everybody else moves. It is useless to be impatient. It is hopeless to try to be an individual. You are just a link in a chain. A segment of a worm. No matter what your temperament may be, you are here and now only a part of something. But you are not humbled.

It is part of the new age in which we live, imagining ourselves to be miraculously free as air, but actually members of a voluntary chain gang.

Five blocks ahead, the lights change; and freely, proudly, we all move. Move without thinking. It is instinctive. Freedom is instinctive. We do not have to think about it.

In this mood of proud submission to freedom, we often get our brightest ideas, sitting in the car. So we reach for a pencil and fumble out an envelope from our pocket to make a note of the bright idea that has just come to us. We hold the envelope ready, on our knee. At the next stop light, we'll have thirty seconds to scribble it down.

The above four paragraphs consist of the bright idea I got this morning and I got out the pencil and the scrap of paper and held it ready on my knee. We went through the first stop light. We sailed eight blocks. And the next stop light was green. At the third stop light, I started to slacken speed in hope that the yellow would come on, to allow me to note down my bright thought. But a policeman at the intersection waved me imperiously on. After seven green lights, I had to turn off onto a quiet side street to stop and make these notes.

Boys, the way to get all green lights is to try to make a memo in traffic.

God Help Us All!

Push-Button Education?

(From The Ottawa Journal)

ACCORDING to a man named Simon Ramo, an electrical engineer and member of the California Institute of Technology, the next thing to happen to us will be push-button education — this assuming of course that push-button war doesn't happen to us first.

Teaching (Mr. Ramo still talking) will be done by machines. Not all by machines; a few highly-skilled teachers will be around for the highest levels, plus clerks to keep track of the records; but by machines mainly.

Each student will be identified by a code punched on a metal plate. The plate will be inserted into a machine built into his chair. His presence thus recorded mechanically, he will have access through buttons on his desk to the "professor" machine at the head of the room.

By pushing a button the student will set in motion the machine's lesson of the day on any one of a variety of subjects which will be given by means of sound movies and animated diagrams. Just to make sure the student doesn't fall asleep he will have to punch certain buttons during the lesson.

Following the lesson the machine will ask questions and the answers will be given by the student pressing other buttons.

The clerks will then co-ordinate the replies to find what progress is being made by the student.

The main machine will be designed for mass instruction, but there will also be individual machines. The skilled human teachers will keep tab on progress of students through the machine records and give occasional human help.

The only catch to push-button education at present, says Ramo, is the prohibitive cost of machines. But in these days who is going to say that cost will stop them—it stops nothing else.

What a world! Artificial moons and people talking of travelling to the real one, and push-button wars, and now push-button education.

God help us all.

Curbs for Minors

If a vehicle is owned entirely by a juvenile it should be made compulsory that such vehicle is fitted with a governor limiting the maximum speed possible to 40 miles per hour. The provincial government could appoint an auto service station in every licensing district to carry out the necessary attachment and sealing of such governors at minimum cost to the owner of the vehicle.

At the same time a small metal plate—approximately four inches by four inches and plainly stamped with the letter "J" (indicating a minor is driving) should be [illegible] possible misunderstandings on the longer stretches of open highway, and in a commonsense way would hardly be embarrassing or imposing undue hardship on the juvenile drivers.

If a vehicle (e.g., the family car) is owned by an adults but is occasionally driven by a juvenile, it would hardly be fair to expect such vehicle to be fitted with a governor, but it should be made law that at any time a juvenile is at the wheel "J" plates be attached to the licence plates and the speed be restricted to the 40 miles per hour. This ruling should apply to both residents and visitors to this province.

I also suggest that in all instances where an adult driver has been found guilty of speeding, dangerous or drunken driving, a speed limit (with governor attached) be imposed upon the culprit and a metal plate, plainly marked with the letter "R" (restricted), be attached to the licence plates.

Sidewalk Necessary

An item in the Colonist informs us that extension of Superior Street through Beacon Hill Park from Douglas Street to Heywood Avenue has cost $11,000 less than the money appropriated by the Capital Improvement District Commission for this project.

Since this improvement is more a major street project than a park project, it would seem that out of this $11,000 saving a sidewalk could be constructed on at least one side of the new driveway. With the addition being made to St. Ann's Academy it is likely that many children will use this new park entrance instead of the Heywood Avenue entrance. For their safety, as well as that of other pedestrians, a sidewalk is necessary.

Widen Roadway

With reference to the roundabout, your Saturday editorial makes good sense for there is no doubt the new signs have improved the flow of traffic. It is difficult to see how any other system occupying equal space could move as many vehicles in a given time.

However, reduction in the size of the central grass circle would provide additional width of road which is badly needed to receive and pass on the traffic from five entrances.

He Likes It

I find no fault with the new Government House plans. In its superb setting 'twill be a welcome sight to all. And lend itself formally and informally to the fulfillment of the functions of the lieutenant-governor and his lady.

In this case we have a gracious understanding of the home-loving tendencies reflected in the Western world, rather than in a castle which belongs to the past or a box-like structure which leaves no room for other than straight line effects.

All in all I am constrained to observe that the new Government House is most appealing for its home-like atmosphere, porte-cochere included, and I am sure it strikes the heart as well as the head.

Elder citizens connected in some way with the original Point Ellice Bridge will be driven to the bridge by BCE bus, for the ceremony, driven over the bridge to an afternoon tea in Victoria West Community Hall, and later driven back to City Hall.

Saanich May Hire Full-Time Planner

Sputniks dominated discussion as Saanich council's works committee last night dissected its suggested five-year roads program.

Outcome of it all was still another tangent: Saanich may try again to hire a full-time community planner to give the municipality an extensive development program to which other long-range frameworks for services could be welded.

But closer to the immediate subject, a general expression of councillors' opinions favored annual budgeting as the possible basis for a continuing roads program.

FIND NO FAULT

Although each councillor stated he could "find no fault" in the report which classifies roads and suggests cost apportionment of improvements between the municipality and fronting taxpayers, the committee refused to endorse it in principle, and instead, tabled it for further discussion.

Coun. Eugene Diespecker, meanwhile, called for an engineer's report on what he thinks the municipality should do in the development of emergency access or "survival" roads.

"We all realize today that evacuation is our only defence," he said. "Therefore, the development of our principal access roads linking the Trans-Canada Highway are today more important than any other roads in the municipality."

ONLY TOO CLEAR

Chairman Leslie Passmore concurred. "With Mister Sputnik up there it is made only too clear to us the priority access roads should be given over what I call convenience roads."

But he added that Saanich should reverse its previous stand and make a start on an access roads program itself before running to the federal and provincial governments for aid.

"Once they see what we are doing for civil defence, they should help us," he said. "We have a responsibility to the ratepayers to think of their survival as well as their convenience."

Coun. George Chatterton said he hoped a survival road program would not overshadow a long-term program to construct the municipality's roads. But even a detailed roads program would be "starting at the wrong point."

He said the municipality should hire a full-time town planner to draw up a detailed community development plan, and then devise a long-range roads program to fit into the frame.

The committee agreed to invite Capital Region planner Brahm Wiesman to a meeting to find out the extent of his responsibilities in comprehensive planning for individual municipalities.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Mining Stocks Favored At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market Tuesday moved moderately higher. The volume of 1,549,000 shares was the lightest since Aug. 9, 1954, when 1,363,000 shares were exchanged.

The market lacked the usual leadership of Wall Street which was closed for the United States election holiday. Traders remained on the sideline not wanting to push the market either way without some pattern from New York.

The base metal index was strong, climbing four points as such stocks as International Nickel, Hudson Bay and Noranda broke ahead at the close. Industrials gained more than 2⅜ points on their index and western oils were up almost 2¾ points. Golds had a minor gain.

High-priced mines and western oils were strong with gains ranging to 2½ points. The low-er-priced stocks had advances ranging up to 50 cents, several of the coppers making firm gains. Uranium were mixed to lower.

Refineries Climb

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock markets closed at their highest of the session. Gains ranged to more than three points and substantial losses were few. Trading was light.

Base metals and refineries stood out. International Nickel at 72½ and Noranda at 39 closed with a gain of 3 each. Hudson Bay gained 2 at 49, Trans-Mountain Pipeline added 3½ at 64 and McColl Oil 2 at 52. But Canadian Husky lost 1¼ at 11¼.

Steels were strong. Steel of Canada improved 2½ to 50. In utilities, B.C. Power added 1½ at 39 and Calgary Power at 62 gained a point.

Banks were mostly unchanged except Bank of Montreal which rose a point to 41. In an otherwise fractionally firmer newsprint section, Howard Smith lost 1¾ at 25¼.

Western oils were mixed as Pacific Petroleums lost ¼ at 21¼, Central Del Rio gained 90 cents at 7.35 and Titan Petroleum dropped 45 cents to a new low of 2.40.

Producing metal mines were up with Campbell Chib gaining 70 cents at 6.30 and Opemiska 65 cents at 7.57.

Cowichan Featured

VANCOUVER — Cowichan Copper provided the feature with a turnover of nearly 16,000 shares, following news that Japanese interests had contracted for the three years' output of the new mill.

The price rose sharply to $1.20, 30 cents above the previous session close, but some profit-taking brought the price back to $1.10 at the finish.

Fort St. John at $4.30 was slightly stronger among gas stocks, while United was higher at $2.45.

Lucky Lager at $4.05 and Capital Estates at $4.95 were the only active industrial stocks.

U.S. Stocks Firm

NEW YORK — The New York and American stock exchanges were closed Tuesday owing to the mayoralty elections.

Chicago and other stock markets were open as usual and the tone generally was firm. Chrysler added two points while General Dynamics, one of the "missile" group was up three points.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most active trading appeared in flax with international interests and U.S. houses the buyers.

Offerings were relatively light and prices reached new seasonal highs although they were irregular at times.

Oats and barley trade was light in volume with most commercial interest in the form of domestic orders by shippers. Prices moved narrowly and there were no reports of export business.

Rye trading produced a few buying orders from American accounts with prices somewhat irregular.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 440,000 bushels, Switzerland 340,000, the Netherlands 320,000, Belgium 115,000 and Germany 70,000.

Pipeline Split Aimed To Bypass Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—A legal question involving pipeline jurisdiction between the federal government and the provinces was taken under advisement Tuesday by the board of transport commissioners.

It could go to the Supreme Court of Canada, the final arbiter on pipeline law.

The case involves a proposal by Westspur Pipe Line Company to sell its southeastern Saskatchewan oil gathering lines to Producers Pipelines Ltd. a firm controlled by Westspur. The price would be around $3,000,000.

WOULD SPLIT CONTROL

The tricky legal point revolves around whether a pipeline company under federal control can split itself up and put part of its operation under provincial control. That is what Westspur wants to do in Saskatchewan.

What Westspur hopes is to have its main line remain under federal control and put its gathering system under Saskatchewan government jurisdiction. Westspur feeds oil to the big Interprovincial company pipe that runs prairie crude into eastern refineries.

Purpose in trying to sever the two operations, company witnesses said Tuesday, is to enable the prospective provincially-controlled company to do any necessary quick operations without having to come to Ottawa for board authorization.

Wage Earners Bond Buyers
$214,000,000 Pledged

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Growth of savings habits by Canadian wage-earners is reflected in the early results of the 12th series of Canada Savings Bonds.

Already $214,000,000 — nearly 60 per cent of the total to date—has been pledged by wage-earners under payroll deduction plan, and the average saver is taking $310 this year against just over $290 a year ago.

By Oct. 31, the bonds sold under payroll deduction amounted to 78 per cent of last year's final count, and it seems that a new record for this type of saving is indicated.

This is particularly sound economically because bonds bought under payroll deduction represent genuine new savings and are thus infinitely more valuable than other purchases which are this year largely conversions to take advantage of the higher interest rates.

The total of cash sales was $159,000,000 on Oct. 31, and Finance Minister Donald Fleming predicts that the 12th series will end as the biggest in the history of the bonds.

On Vancouver Island the present payroll deduction total has risen to $1,800,000, or nearly 90 per cent of last year's total, according to William Munro, local co-ordinator of payroll deduction sales.

Of 51 firms participating 20 are already over last year's level and only five or six have completed their count.

WORK-WAGES AT PEAK

British Columbia is combating a recession owing to weak markets for its chief basic industries. But the difficulties in the lumber and mining industries have not yet shown up in employment and wages levels.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics for the month of August—the latest available—show that industrial employment in B.C. is 35.5 per cent higher than in 1949, and 4.4 per cent higher than in August, 1956.

The average industrial wages have also risen in B.C. to $75.04 from $70.83 a year ago.

This makes B.C. easily the highest wage earning province in Canada. Ontario comes next with an average of $71.11 and Alberta third with $69.82.

OIL HOLDINGS SOLD

Home Oil Company sold some of its oil and gas reserves in the Harmattan, Pembina and Nevis fields of Alberta in order to buy the extra shares of Trans-Canada Pipeline that enabled Home to become the largest shareholder in the big pipeline company.

President R. A. Brown, Jr., of Home in an interim report to shareholders said the recent purchase of 189,000 shares of Trans-Canada from Tennessee Gas had been part of an exchange deal involving Home Oil's oil and gas properties.

Home holds 702,000 out of a total of 5,823,000 shares of Trans-Canada, and with other rights and obligations it could acquire up to 238,000 additional shares.

If this happened Home's percentage of Trans-Canada shares would rise from 12 per cent to 16 per cent of the total outstanding.

Mr. Brown said the present setback in marketing of Alberta oil did not affect the favorable long term outlook for the industry, with refinery capacity being expanded in Ontario, British Columbia and Washington.

Home Oil's gross income for the first nine months of 1957 was $7,212,000 against $6,190,000 in the corresponding period of 1956.

PIONEER FIRM EXPANDS

A branch manufacturing plant and machinery depot is being opened by Westminster Iron Works Co. Ltd. on Annacis Island industrial estate. It will be in addition to the main plant at New Westminster which has recently adopted a two shift system to cope with upswing in volume of work.

The new branch is designed to service the rapidly growing Annacis and Queensborough industrial areas.

Westminster Iron Works, established 84 years ago, is B.C.'s pioneer engineering works. Among its current orders are equipment for the Deas Island tunnel, and the manufacture of power shovel booms for a Seattle company is due to start soon.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — The stock market opened on an optimistic note, helped by the satisfactory gold and dollar reserve figures announced Monday.

However, trade and labor uncertainties combined to cut gains later in the day.

Among foreigners, German bonds were fractionally better. In rails, Canadian Pacific was a firm feature. Other Trans-Atlantic issues were higher. International Nickel did well following its dividend.

'Life Peerages' Planned

Lords to Allow Women in House

LONDON (Reuters) — The government, in the Speech From the Throne, said yesterday it will create "life peerages" bringing women into the House of Lords for the first time.

Government legislation foreshadowed in the speech will state to the houses of parliament with an escort of prancing cavalry, read the speech opening a new session of parliament from the golden throne in the House of Lords.

The Queen addressed a glittering assembly composed of peers in their ermine-trimmed [illegible] in jewelled headdresses, colorfully uniformed diplomats and officials and black-coated members of the House of Commons.

life peers. They will have equal sitting and voting rights with hereditary peers who now compose the bulk of the upper house.

MORE ALTRINCHAM

British royalty-blaster Lord Altrincham turned his barbs yesterday on the House of Lords.

He was particulary irritated by the preferential treatment received by members of the house at opening of parliament.

Writing the the London Weekly "Illustrated," he said "There is much beauty in this annual ritual . . . but unfortunately this highly evocative ceremony is performed in the wrong part of the building" (houses of parliament).

HEARD BY ALL

"Since parliament as a whole is being opened, the speech should be heard by all active members of parliament. "Under present arrangements it is heard by every peer who chooses to turn up, but only by such members of the house of commons as can find room to stand at the bar."

SPECIAL FLAVOR

Spices, whether from root, stem fruit or seed of a plant, all gain favor from their essential oil.

Jester, a two-year-old Siamese named 1957 king of National Cat Week, in New York, gets friendly with Steverino, greyhound who stars on TV. Steverino recently was honored as the 1957 queen of National Dog Week.

Macmillan Warns:

Russia May Turn To Africa Next

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said yesterday he still believes peaceful co-existence possible and desirable but events since the five-power Geneva meetings in 1955 "have not been reassuring." He warned Africa may be the next field of struggle against Communism.

"I do not regret talks with the four powers at Geneva," he said. "I still believe that peaceful co-existence is possible and desirable but I must frankly say that events since those Geneva meetings have not been reassuring."

Macmillan was making the traditional first government speech on occasion of the state opening of parliament.

Macmillan said bluntly, "the plain fact is that Communist doctrine—which has never been repudiated and often acted upon—calls for the eventual overthrow of everything we understand by freedom and democracy. The resources of the Soviet Union, her allies and her satellites are very great. They are under a central direction. That is a great advantage. They are bent upon the mastery of the world."

Macmillan said this mastery "need not necessarily be achieved by overt force but can come about through technical achievements, through propaganda and through the gradual under-mining, the sapping away of the free world."

Pearson Says:

DEW Line Value Sank As Red Rockets Rose

REGINA (BUP)—Nobel Prize winner Lester B. Pearson said Tuesday the high-priced DEW line in Northern Canada has lost [illegible] in the face of Russia's latest space-conquering achievements.

Mr. Pearson, former Liberal external affairs minister, said that, "while the Distant Early Warning line seemed the right thing to construct at the time, it now appears that a new look may have to be taken at the system."

'SILLY REMARK'

At the same time, however, Mr. Pearson criticized Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev for suggesting that the defences of the Western powers have become obsolete.

"Anyone can make a silly remark like Khrushchev's at any time. But the Western defences are not obsolete as long as we have the means of taking nuclear war to an aggressor," Mr. Pearson said.

WILL SEEK SEAT

Turning to politics, Mr. Pearson said he will seek re-election to the House of Commons in the Algoma East constituency in Ontario during the next federal election.

He refused, however, to say whether he will accept nomination as leadership, which is being vacated by former prime minister Louis St. Laurent.

Pat's Here and Raring to Go, Hopes to Take Cougars Along

End of a Weary Journey

It was a long and weary journey for Pat Egan and his family, so the new Cougar coach tucks his two boys, three-year-old Brian, left, and nine-year-old Pat, into bed while his wife, Sally, looks on. The Egans arrived here last night after a quick trip from Nelson and Pat will be directing the Cougars against Calgary Stampeders at Memorial Arena tonight.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

By JIM TANG

Pat Egan arrived in Victoria on schedule last night, driving from Nanaimo over the fog-ridden Island Highway after just missing the Vancouver-Victoria boat. He's here to light a fire under the Victoria Cougars and he'll be trying to fan up the first blaze at Memorial Arena tonight against Calgary Stampeders.

The rugged veteran is wasting no time in swinging into action on what is probably the toughest assignment he has yet faced as a coach. He'll meet with the players this morning and he'll be out on the ice tonight, wearing his old number, 2.

Egan, of course, could hardly be expected to make any statements about his new club until he has seen his players in action. He didn't have to say that he would be insisting on a hustling club. One only has to listen to him a few minutes to know that he will expect his players to dig and will do something about it if they don't.

Additional Sport Pages 8 and 11

Looking fit and younger than the 39 years he freely admits to, Egan has lost none of the desire which made him a 10-year player in the National Hockey League. He plays to win and knows that winning requires effort.

He knows, too, that effort requires condition, both mental and physical. One of the first questions he asked manager Colin Kilburn last night was about the length and frequency of practices. Then he asked for two hours of ice time every day, finally agreed that 90 minutes would do if it was difficult to arrange for the longer time. The mental conditioning will start this morning.

COACHING EXPERIENCE

Coaching is nothing new for the husky veteran. He coached the Providence Reds in the American Hockey League in the 1953-54 and 1954-55 seasons, then moved to Vancouver as playing coach for the 1955-56 season. He led the Canucks to the division championship, beating out the Cougars in the last few games.

He moved to Nelson the following season as playing-coach of the Maple Leafs and was still holding down the same job last Sunday when he agreed to come and take over the Cougars.

Egan played his first senior hockey at Nelson 22 years ago —"I got $80 a month and I had to work besides," he recalls. Then it was Seattle in the old Pacific Coast Hockey League in the 1938-39 season after a stint with the Sudbury Tigers.

NHL ALL-STAR

He played most of the 1939-40 season with Springfield in the AHL, then was brought up by the New York Americans. He stayed in the NHL for the next 10 seasons, then followed four seasons in the AHL, one season in the WHL and it was back to Nelson again. He was one of the better defencemen during his NHL stay and was selected on the second all-star team for the 1941-42 season.

Everything about Martin Joseph "Pat" Egan is Irish. His attractive wife, Sally, was born in Belfast and the two Egan heirs have been named Brian and Patrick. And he lives in Arlington, only eight miles from Boston, the Irish capital of the United States.

Egan and the Cougars have no easy task ahead of them tonight in opening the new regime with a victory. The Stampeders got off to a slow start this season but they are unbeaten in their last four games —winning from Saskatoon-St. Paul Regals, Edmonton Flyers and New Westminster Royals and tying the Flyers.

The Stamps, coached this year by Frank Currie, have Al Rollins, a nine-year National Hockey League veteran, in goal, a fair defence and some husky forwards who can score goals.

Up front, their big guns this season have been Fred Hucul, a hard-shooting former defenceman who looks as if he may earn another NHL chance as a winger, and rugged Steve Witiuk, playing his sixth straight season at Calgary. And the Stamps got a big boost last week when they were able to re-acquire smooth Sid Finney, high-scoring centre.

Newcomers include defenceman Gordie Tottle and forwards Ray Ross and Chuck and Dusty Blair from the AHL. Other holdovers include Enio Sclisizzi, Dave Duke and Sandy Hucul. Bud Syverson is back after a season with Vancouver.

Cougars won't decide on their line-up until later today. The club has 16 players and two will sit out the game. One of the two will be rookie-defenceman Gordie Matheson, who is injured. The other choice will depend on the decision whether to play Frank Milne on defence or a forward line.

There will undoubtedly be some line changes as the game goes along, one of which may find Doug Macauley re-united with Colin Kilburn.

Game time is 8:30, and it should be an interesting evening.

Pro Wrestling Back Thursday

Professional wrestling will return to the Victoria Ballroom Thursday night with a tag team match and a special ladies' event featuring the card.

Bob Cummings and Red Vagnone tangle against Bud Ruttall and John Demchuk in the main event. June Byers meets Ethel Johnston in the special event, while Dave Pye meets Mike Belton in the one-fall opener at 8:30.

It Was a Long Time

Grand old man of football, 95-year-old Amos Alonzo Stagg, left, has reunion with Patrick J. O'Dea, 85, of San Francisco at a Touchdown Club meeting yesterday at San Francisco. Football veterans had not seen each other since 1899 at Madison, Wis., where the Stagg-coached University of Chicago defeated the University of Wisconsin, for which Dea was captain and fullback.—(AP Photofax.)

Three Schools in B.C. Sending Rugby Team to Britain in 1958

By HARRY YOUNG

Three leading British Columbia independent schools will make history next year by sending a representative rugby football team to play against some of the leading public schools in England and Scotland.

The schools participating are University School of Victoria, Shawnigan Lake School and St. George's School, Vancouver.

Although there have been many rugby teams visiting B.C. from the Old Country it is the first time a B.C. team has been asked to tour in Britain.

Spark plug of the great adventure is J. J. Timmis, headmaster of University School, whose school team has suffered only one defeat since 1955.

"We have arranged this tour to coincide with the B.C. Centennial," said Mr. Timmis. "The team will play in (B.C.) Centennial jerseys, white shorts and wear their own school stockings. Off the field they will wear dark blue jerseys with the B.C. Centennial crest."

The party will consist of eight players and one master from each of the participating schools.

They will leave by air on March 17 and return from London April 1. For a week before leaving the players will assemble at Shawnigan Lake School in order to practise together.

One week will be spent in Edinburgh and the other week in London.

Four famous Scottish schools with long rugby football records against whom the B.C. boys will play are Fettes, Loretto, Glenalmond and Dollar Academy. In England they will play Tonbridge, Oundle and Epsom.

The venture has been praised by Bob Spray, president of the B.C. Rugby Association.

He says the tour will bring the B.C. centennial to the notice of the British public, and that it will promote mutual understanding and goodwill.

Although each boy will be asked to pay $600 towards his expenses the experience of playing against some of the greatest British schools should prove a tremendous incentive.

Participating in the organization with Mr. Timmis are G. Peter Kaye, headmaster of Shawnigan Lake School, and John Harker, headmaster at St. George's School.

In Britain the arrangements are in the hands of Adam Robson of Dollar Academy, Crichton Miller of Fettes and Dr. Glyn Hughes of the Barbarians, who played here earlier this year.

Macias Meets Halimi

Title Confusion Ends Tonight

Raul (Raton) Macias of Mexico remained a slight favorite yesterday to win the undisputed world bantamweight championship from Alphonse Halimi of France at Los Angeles tonight and there is no question the Frenchman will face a highly partisan crowd.

The 15-round, nationally televised fight (channel 5 for Victoria viewers) will start at 7 p.m. And Tuesday Los Angeles, as large and sprawling as it is, literally swarmed with Mexican nationals.

They came hundreds of miles by jalopy, limousines, train and plane to cheer their handsome 23-year-old countryman, who has lost but one fight in 32 and is recognized by the U.S. National Boxing Association as ruler of the 118-pounders.

The personable, 25-year-old Halimi, who lost but once in 21 fights, whipped Italy's Mario D'Agata in Paris to win recognition from the World Boxing Committee as champion.

There has been no boxer recognized as world bantamweight champion since Jimmy Carruthers of Australia retired as champion in 1954.

Toronto	10	3	6	1	25	31	7

Last night's score: New York 1 at Detroit 1.

Next game, tonight: New York at Toronto.

New York Rangers today share the National Hockey League lead for the first time in 16 years.

They pulled into a tie with Montreal Canadiens last night at Detroit by holding the Red Wings to a 1-1 tie. Canadiens, however, have two games in hand.

It was a battle of goalkeepers as the Rangers extended their unbeaten streak through a fourth game while the Wings failed to win for the third game in a row.

The defending National Hockey League champions, however, gave one of their stronger showings of the season and fired 35 shots at Marcel Paille, who has allowed only three goals in three games as a substitute for the injured Lorne Worsley.

Rangers got only 25 shots at Terry Sawchuk but many of them were dangerous and the improving Sawchuk played well to hold the Blueshirts to a single goal.

Both goals were scored while Detroit played shorthanded. Camille "The Eel" Henry scored for the Rangers midway through the first period while Warren Godfrey served a kneeing penalty.

It was Henry's sixth goal of the season, all of them on power plays.

Alex Delvecchio got the equalizer while out helping kill off a second period penalty to Al Arbour for high-sticking. Delvecchio stole the puck from Bill Gadsby just inside the Detroit blue line and raced in front of his pursuers all the way to get away his scoring shot.

Gadsby had a bad night. He also drew a misconduct penalty for roughing up Dalton McArthur after the referee had called a minor penalty against Jack Evans for holding the puck.

Triumphant Return

Two Scoring Records Set by Winnipeg Ace

WINNIPEG (CP) — Gerry James returned to Winnipeg Blue Bombers from the hockey wars to set two records in capturing the 1957 individual scoring title in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The 23-year-old fullback, who sat out the 1956 football season to play with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, scored a record-breaking 131 points and a record 19 touchdowns. The old point-scoring record of 110 was set in 1952 by end Bob Shaw of Calgary Stampeders when a touchdown was worth only five points.

Shaw would have had 119 points under the present system. Ken Carpenter of Saskatchewan Roughriders set the old mark of 18 touchdowns in 1955.

Statistics compiled Tuesday by The Canadian Press showed that James' 131 points came on 19 touchdowns, three converts, four field goals and two singles. He will receive the Dave Dryburgh Memorial Trophy. Last year's winner was halfback Buddy Leake of Bombers. Another Bomber—Bud Korchak of the 1953 club—was the last Canadian to win the scoring championship.

Edmonton Eskimos' halfback-quarterback Jackie Parker, with 103 points, was runner-up to James. Parker scored 17 touchdowns and one single.

BOOTS 50 CONVERTS

In third place with 100 points was Esks' place-kicking end Joe Mobra, who scored two touchdowns and booted a WIFU record 50 concerts, 10 field goals and eight singles. Previous convert record was 42 by Annis Stukus of Edmonton in 1951.

Eskimos' two hard-rock fullbacks—Johnny Bright and Normie Kwong — held fourth and fifth positions respectively. Bright crashed through for 96 points on 16 touchdowns. Kwong had 90 points on 15 touchdowns.

The leaders:

	TD	C	FG	S	Pts
James, Bombers	19	3	4	2	131
Parker, Esks	17	0	0	1	103
Mobra, Esks	2	50	10	8	100

Kwong, Esks	15	0	0	0	90
Bailey, Lions	10	0	0	0	60
Marlow, Riders	10	0	0	0	60

Drakes Win

Oak Bay Drake midgets defeated Campbell River Raiders, 26-13, in an exhibition Canadian football game Sunday at Campbell River.

Murray Halkett, Murray Superle, Wayne Farmer and Jackie Heath each scored a touchdown for the Drakes, with Heath converting two.

Sidney Scores

Harold Jacobsen dropped in 18 points and Roy Brekke scored 12 to lead Sidney Freight to an easy 66-18 victory over Brentwood in an exhibition game before a small crowd at Sidney last night.

The Sidney club will host Morrison's senior "B" team Thursday night at the new North Saanich High School gym.

McNab Leads the Way

Veterans Outshine Rookies In WHL Scoring Statistics

There may be some good rookies in the Western Hockey League this season but scoring statistics disclose that the veterans are off to a fine start and that the youngsters are likely to find it a bit difficult to keep up.

Leading the way after Monday's game was Max McNab, 33-year-old New Westminster centre. The smooth veteran has 18 points, six of them goals, from 11 games to lead linemate Gordie Fashoway by a single point.

The 31-year-old Fashoway has nine goals, which gives him 283 for his illustrious WHL career. Fashoway has 481 points in WHL play, trailing only Bobby Love and Eddie and Ollie Dorohoy. McNab has 328 points for his WHL career.

Close behind the New Westminster aces are two Calgary veterans, Fred Hucul and Steve Witiuk.

Hucul, playing his eighth professional season although not yet 27 years old, has seven goals and nine assists. He has shifted from defence to a wing berth and is making his sizzling shot pay off in the new position. The rugged Witiuk has six goals and eight assists.

Then comes the 34-year-old Ollie Dorohoy, a fine playmaker from his left-wing position. He has 13 points, 12 of them assists, to boost his career total in the WHL to 515 points.

Behind the elder Dorohoy follow Phil Maloney, 30-year-old Vancouver centre, and Gerry "Doc" Couture, 32-year-old Saskatoon right-winger. There the youngsters take over—rookies Fred Glover and Orland Kurtenbach and sophomores Earl Ingarfield, Denny Olson, Arnie Schmautz, Bob Kabel and Len Lunde.

'Our Troubles Are Over'

Tuppence Bet Reaps English Widow $574,658

SAM ETCHEVERRY

Starry passing quarterback of the Montreal Alouettes, Sam "The Rifle" Etcheverry, yesterday signed a contract to play his seventh season with the Big Four Football Union club in 1958. Rated the best passer in Canadian football, Etcheverry signed for $17,000 — a slight increase over last season—the first since 1953 that he has not been on a championship team.

LONDON — Britain shared the joy of a tiny 34-year-old widow who arrived in London yesterday to collect £200,235 ($574,658) for twopence (2.41 cents) that she invested in Britain's weekly football pools lottery.

"Thank God," said an almost hysterical Mrs. Nellie McGrail, "I can pay off the mortgage on my house and also the mortgage on my father's house."

Mrs. McGrail and her two young daughters came to London yesterday and tried on new dresses in a swank hotel for the cheque presentation ceremony.

Her win was the biggest jackpot ever chalked up by any winner in the country's privately-operated pools gamble, which are legal here. The pool operator (Littlewoods) pay the taxes on the winnings.

For 17,000,000 Britons, one-third of the population, who bet a few pennies on the soccer pools each week, Nellie's jackpot is a dream come true.

The hopefuls each week bet anything from a penny up on the results of almost 50 professional soccer games played each Saturday from August to April.

The nation spent a total of £548,000,000 last year on lady luck — £71,000,000 of it on the soccer pools. Some £350,000,000 was bet on horse racing, £121,000,000 on greyhound racing and £6000000 on other forms of legal gambling.

Mrs. McGrail won her prize by correctly forecasting seven soccer games which ended in a tie last Saturday — a 1,217,566,349-to-1 chance.

She spent one shilling six pence when she sent in her coupon last week with nine forecasts at two pence a chance. Mrs. McGrail won a second prize and seven third prizes for her total investment but her forcast of seven seven tie games cost her only two pence for her fortune.

Mrs. McGrail who plays the football pools every week as a habit, didn't even bother to check over the results of last Saturday's games.

[illegible] knew of her staggering good luck was shortly after midnight Monday night when a representative of the operators awakened her at her home in Redditch in the north of England.

"Mrs. McGrail," said the man standing outside the door in the rain, "I have the pleasure of telling you that you have won a considerable amount of money on the football pools."

"It's a considerable sum and, by the way, may I come in out of the rain?"

How much did you say?" she gasped. "More than £200,000?" That's what I thought you said!"

Then she called her children, 11-year-old Eileen and 11-year-old Barbara downstairs.

"Our troubles are over, loves," she whispered.

Mrs. McGrail's troubles included a fifth mortgage on the house and a job as checker in a mail order house which brought in only £5 10s a week.

Mrs. McGrail said she would quit her job.

Mrs. McGrail's husband, a truck driver, was killed in an accident last April.

The operators of the pools award three points for predicting a tie, [illegible] for a win away from home and one point for correctly guessing that a team will win at home.

The perfect score is 24 points, three points each for correctly predicting eight tie games. Mrs. McGrail forecast seven ties for 21 points and picked up two more for being right on away from home wins.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

Because he is going out of town, Bill McColl will not be able to play in the Victoria district senior medal in which he took a first round lead with 71 at Colwood.

This month the medal shifts to Cedar Vale, and the new leader will be Commodore Lance Kerr with 72.

The winter medals are run in two series. The winner of the first is the golfer firing the best aggregate in October, November and December, and the second hangs on the scores in the January, February and March contests.

Last winter Mac Il was, both weeks, makes him both a faithful and highly consistent performer.

He's ready to defend the title this time emphasizes the point that the conditions attached to winter medal play are not entirely satisfactory.

There are many golfers in the district who feel that the competition would be improved if only one medal was awarded each year, and that the winner should be computed on the player who put in his best four rounds. In this case, absence from one or two of the winter medals would not knock the participant out of the reckoning.

As the par for each of the Victoria courses on which the medal is played are not identical, it would be necessary to adjust the scores to the national rating of each course, just as is done when the B.C. Golf Association works out its averages for Willingdon Cup team selection.

CHARLIE HOLDS STICK—Charlie Wilson made a third successful defence of the Challenge Walking Stick at the Victoria Golf Club Sunday. This time he out-classed R. L. Challoner took him to the 18th green where the match finished all square.

By the rules of the Walking Stick competition there are no extra holes or replays. The challenger must win outright to unseat the holder.

* * *

GREENSOME WINNERS—Wally Woods and Mrs. H. Wynn with net 67 won the Gorge Vale mixed greensome competition Sunday. Runners-up were Bill Coates and Miss L. Fletcher, net 70.

* * *

BUTTONS POSTPONED—Owing to Johnnie Merriman being eliminated the buttons match scheduled for last week-end at Colwood was postponed. Holders Merriman and Joe Pyke will meet challengers Bon Woods and Tommy Harris at the same course Nov. 17.

* * *

FIFTH ACE FOR DOC—A champion and captain of the Victoria Golf Club, Dr. George Pegelow added another chapter to his book of golfing feats Sunday when he holed out at the 125-yard 5th hole.

It was George's fifth. He was playing with Alan Taylor, Dr. Malcolm Mackay and Don Campbell.

* * *

UPLANDS HOLDS OPEN—The Remembrance Day tournament at Uplands Monday will be an 18-hole handicap medal competition open to all members of local golf clubs.

Entries should be made to the Uplands pro shop (4-5703), not later than Thursday for inclusion in the draw although post entries will also be accepted.

YOUTH MOVEMENT PAYS OFF—Does youth development in golf pay off? According to the results of the Ontario Golf Association, it does.

Since their development committee got to work the entries for the Ontario junior championship have risen like this: 1951 245 entries, 1952 281 entries, 1953 261 entries, 1954 351 entries, 1955 383 entries, 1956 429 entries and 1957 589 entries.

These juvenile golfers took part in sectional qualifying rounds and the championship was played over three sections: minor (16-18 years), juvenile (14-15 years) and bantam (13 and under).

The system of dividing the youngsters into age groups is one that might be worthy of consideration locally for the Victoria and District junior championship next summer.

* * *

SENIOR BUTTONS RETAINED—Ted Williams and Colin Gibson of Uplands retained the Victoria district senior buttons Friday by disposing of another Uplands team, A. Priestley and Jack Betts. Next challengers are George Goodwin and Dr. H. C. Gill, with Victoria the venue.

Baseball Booming In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A torrrent of ticket reservations—almost $700,000 worth already—is swamping the San Francisco Giants' front office.

"I've heard of such things happening in Milwaukee, but this beats anything I've had anything to do with," exulted ticket manager Peter Hoffman, who has been with the National League organization for 25 years.

Hoffman predicts the Giants will play to 1,250,000 fans in their first season in San Francisco. To reach that figure, he said, an enlarged minor league stadium seating only 23,160 would "have to run at near capacity for all our 74 home dates."

The city is building a new stadium for the Giants but it won't be ready next season.

The ticket manager said one order Monday for a season's box seat reservation was from Los Angeles.

"Some fans will do anything to get away from the Dodgers," he cracked.

City Soccer All-Stars To Meet Pils Monday

The Victoria and District Football League all-stars who will meet Vancouver Pilsmers at Royal Athletic Park Monday afternoon in an exhibition match for the league's injured players fund have been announced by city soccer officials.

Lining up against the powerful Mainland club will be Al Davies of Tillicums in goal, Bill Hope and Bill Bamford both of Gorge Hotel, as fullbacks, George Guckel of Brodies, Jack Rosmus of Butlers and Harold Holland of Gorge on the half-back line and Dick Nelles of Kickers, Joe Henhouse of Brodies, Bill Akenhead of Canadian Scottish, Otto Petrovansky of Hungarians and Alex Stewart of Tillicums on the forward line.

In reserve will be Frank Lohner of Kickers, Paul Calve of Esquimalt, Andy Major of Hungarians and Charlie Constable of Tillicums.

In Saturday's action at Royal Athletic Park, Pemberton United meets Gorge Hotel in a Jameson Cup match, the winner advancing to the semi-finals against Brodies Bakery.

League play holds the spotlight Sunday afternoon with three games scheduled. Esquimalt meets the Hungarians at Lopaz Avenue Park, Kickers play Butlers at Heywood Avenue Park and Canadian Scottish tackle Heaneys at Central Park.

Mrs. A. G. E. Robbins won the "A" division of a turkey competition at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday by firing a net 81. "B" division was won by Mrs. E. L. Keyes with a net 71, while Mrs. R. Jones took the "C" division with a net 71.

Moving Day in Oak Bay

Const. Charles Bates of the Oak Bay police cleared for action yesterday, as the department shifted headquarters from the municipal hall to a new home beside firehall on Monterey. Despite the early fog, everything made the move successfully—even extra uniforms, coats, and armament.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Building Soars In Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—"A nice bit of business," Mayor Loran Jordan commented when the building inspector's report showed that permits issued to the end of October covered $7,038,920 in construction.

The total was boosted by $142,050 in 24 permits granted in October. In 1956 building total for the 10-month period was $5,038,040.

Council approved tentative plans for a new subdivision in the south end of the city. It is expected that 90 lots will be put on the market within three months as the city opens up [illegible] Street. A new street as yet unnamed will be constructed in what has been described by the mayor as "a very desirable residential location."

Heavy Safe Gone

ALBERNI—A 500-pound safe disappeared from Alberni Legion Hall in the early hours of yesterday morning.

Alberni RCMP suspect that four or five men may have been involved in the robbery, which took place between 1 a.m. and 8 a.m.

A door to the furnace room at the back of the building was forced open.

The safe contained about $240 in cash as well as Legion papers.

Jobless Given Break

NANAIMO—Two unemployed men asked for lighter fines in Nanaimo police court yesterday. And because they had been out of work for some time, their requests were granted by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts.

Five dollars was lopped off a $25 fine for driving without due care and attention imposed on Henrik Wouters.

Fine for a hit-and-run offence was kept down to $50 in the case of a Duncan man, Vernon Edward Smith.

Sandwiches prepared overnight and chilled in the refrigerator, will keep other items cool in the lunchbox.

Helicopter Spreads Seed Over 1,000 Island Acres

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 1,000 acres of cut-over forest land was seeded by helicopter yesterday by Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited near Nanaimo Lakes.

The operator covered an area on the northeast slope of Mount De Cosmos between the 800 and 1,000-foot levels which contains some of the most productive forest land on Vancouver Island. It is part of the company's forest management licence No. 2, Crown Zellerbach officials said here.

The seeding project is one of many reforestation operations being carried out in its holdings near Ladysmith and Courtenay.

The aerial seeding was under the direction of Ken Mulholland of the company's Comox Logging and Railway division.

With a forester beside the pilot as a guide, the helicopter flew at 30 miles an hour about [illegible] feet above the ground in parallel strips. Men waving bright orange flags marked the ends of each strip, each man moving 100 feet to the side to mark the next run.

The helicopter was equipped with two hoppers on the sides each holding 125 pounds of seed. The seed was fed to a rotating wheel on the underside which scattered it over a 100-foot-wide swath.

'Space Ship' Real Thing?

a staircase came out. Two men emerged and one flashed something at the base—a flashlight. For seconds I couldn't move. Then one said, 'We'll have to be here a little while, you may as well come inside.'"

He entered the contraption, Schmidt said, and found two more men and two women. They searched him and spoke with a German accent, he said. Schmidt said the women were brunettes, all of them were dressed in everyday clothes and two of the men wore moustaches.

The walls of the blimp were translucent from inside, Schmidt said. The women appeared to be working on the ship's wiring and all her passengers seemed to move about the ship on a conveyor or magnetic field, he said.

"They told me to look around but they wouldn't answer my questions about the ship," Schmidt said. "All they would say is 'Tell the people we're doing no harm.'"

Although it did not tally with common concepts of space travel, Schmidt insisted the big balloon was propelled by tubes fitted with huge propellers.

Finally, he said, the "space people" told him to get out, assuring him his car would start.

As he returned to his auto, he said, the thing just took off in the air like a helicopter. It seemed to change color and blend into the atmosphere but [illegible] was going so fast."

The "space people" kept their promise, Schmidt said. As the "whatsit" faded away he tried to start his car and succeeded [illegible].

Citizens, police officers and servicemen reported seeing the objects.

For several years the Air Force has [illegible] reports of unidentified flying objects. Investigators work at the Air Defence Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., and report to the air technical intelligence centre.

A "fiery orange" object hovered over the Gateshead, [illegible] area in the pre-dawn hours yesterday and then disappeared in a north-westerly direction, a farmer's wife reported.

Mrs. William Steagall said she sighted the cigar or egg-shaped object in the sky about 1 a.m. (EST) when she was awakened by the barking of a neighbor's dog.

A similar space object was reported spotted southwest of [illegible] Mrs. Wooster [illegible] [illegible] new paper publisher [illegible] Stewart said he got four other persons [illegible] at [illegible] what looked like a bright moon or extra bright star, oval-shaped and moving across the sky.

Mrs. Steagall said she watched the object for two or three minutes and then tried to rouse her husband from sleep. When they returned to the window the object had disappeared and the dog had stopped barking, she said.

"It seemed to stand still and then moved slowly toward the earth," she said. "It was about twice as large as the moon."

At Chicago Mrs. Elroy Sandquist [illegible] said she spotted a round, bright, pinkish-orange colored object in the sky early Sunday.

Flash Spotted In City

A brilliant crimson light was spotted near the [illegible] Saturday night by two Victoria women.

Mrs. Anastasia O'Neill and Mrs. A. G. Beaven, [illegible] Beach Drive, saw the odd light about 8:30 p.m.

"We were looking at the moon when we saw a little star coming out of it or around it. It burst into a brilliant red light and then dropped out of sight," said Mrs. O'Neill, nurse for Mrs. Beaven.

Mrs. O'Neill said it was a clear night and the moon was easily visible when she saw the strange light.

Frankham-Harding Rites Held in Garrison Church

St. Paul's Naval Garrison Church, Esquimalt, decorated with white, yellow and pink chrysanthemums, was the setting for the exchange of vows between Myrna Alfretta Harding, daughter of Mrs. B. R. Russell, 1144 Westbury Ave., Esquimalt, and Capt. John Harding, Bedford, Nova Scotia, and Gary Bruce Frankham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Frankham, Cambridge Street, Victoria.

Rev. J. A. Roberts officiated with traditional music supplied by T. Myers on the organ.

Given in marriage by Benjamin R. Russell, the bride wore a pale blue lace over taffeta gown on princess lines with circular neckline outlined with scallops and three-quarter length sleeves. A blue feather hat with rose-tip veil and cascade bouquet of pink carnations and white stephanotis completed her ensemble. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Only attendant, Miss Loreen Roach, maid of honor, wore pale pink nylon brocade styled on princess lines with cowl neckline. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white stephanotis.

The duties of best man were carried out by Bernie Law and ushers were John Harding, brother of the bride, and Doug Wilson.

The reception was held in the Officers' Wardroom of HMCS Malahat. Cmdr. J. A. Brown proposed the toast to the bride.

For traveling to Seattle the bride donned a Hudson seal fur jacket over her wedding costume with gardenia corsage.

The young couple will reside at 7341 Granville Street, Vancouver.

Garden Notes

Death to Chickweed!

By M. V. CHESNUT, F.R.H.S.

I've just come in from the garden after doing battle with chickweed, which must surely be the most persistent of all the annual weeds. All through my gardening life I've been making war on this pest for hand pulling chickweed under my mother's watchful eye is just about the first garden job I can remember doing and I suppose [illegible] ture as long as I can still bend down.

It doesn't seem possible to eradicate this weed completely no matter how clean you keep your land, it will move in from somewhere. On cultivated ground I find the best control is to skim it off with a sharp spade in early autumn and bury it in the bottom of my digging trench as I dig over the vegetable plot. At least it will earn its keep there by enriching the soil with the mineral salts its roots have collected.

At one time chickweed was a serious problem in lawns for the plant revels in the same growing conditions which are necessary for a fine lawn. Everything you did for the benefit of the grass would benefit the chickweed even more. The lawn mower can't touch it and the weed is resistant to all the common weedkillers so the patches spread wider and wider [illegible]

Fortunately the chemicals designed to kill crab grass selectively in the lawn are also effective against chickweed so control is comparatively simple now. Buy a can or a carton of Crab Grass Killer, dissolve it in water according to the directions on the package, and apply to the weedy patches with a watering can.

The grass is not injured but you'll have some ugly brown patches for a few weeks where the chickweed dies until the grass closes in to cover the patch with green. [illegible] while the weedy patches are still small and before it has had a chance to smother the grass.

When you [illegible] this weedkiller it is most important that you make sure you get Crab Grass Killer and not Couch Grass Killer. [illegible] one by mistake Couch Grass Killer cannot be used in lawns as it kills ALL grass.

Killer Bacteria Immune

Germ Horror Feared

WASHINGTON (NANA) — A resurgence of killer bacteria supposedly largely conquered by antibiotics developed during the past two decades is one of the nightmares of the future.

This is stressed by Dr. Thomas B. Turner of Johns Hopkins University in a report published by the U.S. Public Health Service.

"We may be approaching," he says, "the practical state of germ-free animals in the laboratories [illegible] animals that rapidly succumb to such bacteria as the colon bacillus which is normally present and harmless in every free-living animal."

[illegible] animals entirely non-resistant to these normally harmless bacteria but the capacity of their immune mechanisms is greatly impaired.

"The normal bacteria flora of the human being," he points out, "has long been known but it has not been known why certain kinds of these micro-scopic plants always were present in large numbers and others in small numbers. Obviously," says the report, "[illegible] reached an adjustment with the human who was their host but also had reached an adjustment with each other.

[illegible] of these aberrant species which did very little harm have been greatly reduced while others formerly present [illegible] diseases.

A good example [illegible] is found everywhere [illegible] it was responsible for an occasional boil or for the infection of a wound or minor injury. It was discovered [illegible]

But then," the report continues, "it was found that a very small proportion of these organisms, about one in ten [illegible] to penicillin [illegible] Before long [illegible] patient after patient all the staphs were resistant."

[illegible]

During ten years [illegible] This same phenomenon may be taking place with certain other bacteria.

Inexperienced players are frequently [illegible] warned against making [illegible] bids in spades for the reason that if partner supports you vigorously it is expensive to get out. In this deal, however, North's spade bid was a safe one. It was not likely that South had four spades and had chosen a three-club rebid instead of a bid that would show the major. And in view of north's powerful hand [illegible] were to raise the spade bid there should be no trouble about a bid of five clubs.

South read his partner's four no trump bid as a slam try which, from his profusion of honor cards of the lower rank, looked to him like an announcement of at least a couple of aces. He might have contented himself with a more modest slam try, for North would surely have carried a five no trump bid higher, but South was not a man to take halfway measures in the bidding.

West hit upon the killing lead of jack of spades. South counted seven club tricks, five diamonds and the ace of spades and wasted no time in grabbing dummy's spade ace and leading a club to his queen. Alas, the club he led from the dummy was a low one.

West showed out, marking the finesse against the jack, so South overtook the queen of diamonds with dummy's king and led the ten of clubs for the marked finesse. East unkindly refused to cover and South had to use the jack of diamonds as re-entry to run the rest of the clubs. Unfortunately, this cut him off from the remainder of dummy's diamonds, so South won all the tricks except the last three. This left him two shy of his slam.

As South remarked, "If I only played slower I could be a Life Master." All declarer needed to do to insure making the grand slam was to take the precaution of leading dummy's ten of clubs at the second trick. Of course he didn't intend to let the ten spot ride, but the play would have unblocked the suit for a later finesse that would let declarer capture seven clubs without losing any of his five winners in diamonds.

That Messy Hair Takes Work, Man!

PAT BOONE
. . . hates combing

ELVIS PRESLEY
. . . it makes me

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Take it from an old stage hand at 20th-Fox, a couple of strong entries for the prima donna sweepstakes are hard at work these days on "Sing, Boy, Sing." Their rivalry has been tagged "the battle of the hair-dos."

Curl-haired Tommy Sands, playing the . . .

. . . each of their days in the Fox they spend . . . their coiffs. But according to this same old-timer, the situation is getting worse.

"First we had Presley in 'Love Me Tender,'" he explained. "Next came Pat Boone in 'Bernardine.' Now we have Sands. And I want you to know it's a blanket finish as to which of that singing trio spends more time with the comb.

"Funny thing," he summed up, with a puzzled look, "is that they all take hair-do much more seriously even than their careers. I asked Presley once why . . . that looked desperately in need of cutting.

"'Why, sir,' he replied very politely, 'my hair is what makes me. I admit it looks messy, but do you realize how long I have to comb it to get it that way?'"

Jury Finds Attempt To Hide Baby's Death

VANCOUVER (CP) — A coroner's jury in nearby Richmond ruled Monday that an unidentified baby found on a farm Oct. 18 had died of unknown causes. It also ruled there was a deliberate intent to conceal the death from authorities.

Pathologist Dr. T. R. Harmon's autopsy report showed the infant had been dead between 24 and 48 hours before its animal-mauled and scorched body was discovered in the field.

The baby had received at least one feeding, he said.

It was the doctor's opinion the baby had died of natural causes.

Legendary Begbie

Title of Judge Film Not Left Hanging

The title "The Hanging Judge" for a National Film Board account of the life of Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie will be changed to "The Legendary Judge" because of complaints by a Victoria lawyer and Vancouver's city archivist.

City lawyer Arthur D. Crease had protested that the first British Columbia's first judge was one of the kindest men I know. Mr. Crease said he frequently appeared before Judge Begbie.

He was stern with malefactors, but it was a good thing we had his type.

. . . a man in bad temper. I would like to see the rope on the author.

Vancouver archivist J. S. Matthews said: "It is felonious and vicious to suggest that there was ever a state of affairs in B.C. when a judge could hang . . ."

THE BIG QUESTION TODAY

Is how to buy more goods with less money. And that's just how some folks stand today; they have less money available and need more things. Necessity must folks are checking their budgets more closely, comparing prices and values and trying to decide on how much for necessities and how much for luxuries.

We think the best approach is to take the long term view. If money and confidence, for instance, just awhile ago when some things were scarce ... [illegible] ... over the market price now the situation is reversed and many goods are available below market prices with fewer takers. However we are pleased to say that the lumber and building materials market has been one of the most stabilized of all businesses in the area. Building materials prices have shown more stabilization than most other durable goods. For instance 20 years ago materials were [illegible] ... of a new home; today building materials are only 40% of home costs. That's where the long term outlook comes in: with a rising population there will be a greater demand for homes and lots and what you build today will be more valuable in the future. Remember, too, that the lumber order for any new home or renovation is the lowest part of the [illegible] ... today's market prices you can't lose, and shrewd buyers realize this. October has proved to be one of the biggest building months this year and [illegible] ... on these genuine lumber buys ... many at wholesale prices and producers' costs.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz come up tonight with the first of their five special shows this season, and with their popularity, that's the big news of the day. Although they trimmed the script, it still runs 75 minutes.

There's also the world bantamweight title fight, the usual good Wednesday regulars and one good movie, "House on 92nd Street."

It's now definite that the U.S. Congress will vote on whether pay-TV can come into existence. Rep. Emanuel Celler, the anti-pay New York Democrat, wants the vote next year, but probably will have to wait until after the three-year pay-TV test starting on March 1.

Speaking of TV changes, Judge Thomas Troland of the Connecticut Supreme Court has agreed to allow TV cameras, radio microphones and news cameras in his court, but "unobstrusively." He says some lawyers would play to the TV audience but judges would have to stay awake and "the witness would be more careful to tell the truth."

* * *

TV BITS: Best news of the week—Carl Reiner will be with Sid Caesar for their new ABC show starting Jan. 26. It will be called Sid Caesar Invites You and will have new sketches each week. . Caesar has dropped the Commuters, music numbers and guests but has kept the German professor bopper Progress Harnspy and sappy novelist Somerset Winterset . . . Canada's Christopher Plummer, star of the recent "Prince and the Pauper" has won a Warner Bros.' movie contract and will star in a Budd Schulberg movie about an Audubon Society worker . . . movies are to be made of two famous novels, "Billy Budd" and "The Big Fisherman."

First program shakeups of the new season have not brought cancellations. Instead, new producers and or directors have been assigned to pep up Big Record, Club Oasis and Pat Boone shows . . . two other weak shows, Polly Bergen and Guy Mitchell, have been extended by the sponsor . . . Jack Paar's Tonight show is starting to outrate movies. In Detroit, its lead is 2-1 . . . not every TV show dies in its first year—Howdy Doody will be 10 years old Dec. 28 . . . speaking of anniversaries, this is the first for TV Talk under this writer's name. We'll leave a review of the year to the Emmy people and go ahead on a policy of lots of news and little opinion.

HI-LO TRAILER SALES
VICTORIA AND NANAIMO

CAN SELL FOR LESS—HERE'S WHY.

LARGE TURNOVER — We take a small profit.
SMALL FREIGHT BILLS—Most of our companies have factories in Oregon, Idaho and Northern California.
BIG COMPANIES—That we associate with have tremendous buying power. One of our companies has 14 different factories all over North America and when they buy it's in car-load lots. One isolated factory can't get the discount for volume buying, so our prices reflect this saving, too.
NO RENT OR LEASES—We own our property, of course no leases or rent to pay.
[obscured] side line). We are full time occupied by this business and with years of experience we know how and where to obtain the most dollar value on the market.
FINANCING — We have the best Canada can offer in financing.

THE TRUE STORY

Take $500 or $600 in freight bills, single factory purchasing power and inefficient manufacturing procedures, add interest over five years and some more sales tax and the more necessary insurance; then take a look at your financed balance. Sorry folks, we have to pass the nothing down deals. We must sell to legitimate down payment buyers with good credit. Our profit ratio does not allow for poor credit risks. Show us a reasonable deal and we will show you the best priced quality, our economy line and our 7 different manufacturers' products. Look at our prices and inspect our products. You'll be convinced.

SAMPLES FROM OUR LARGE STOCK:
10' wide, 45' long, quality 3-bedroom, storm sealed constructed, Rex mobile home is division of Mid-States; we sell with latest Westinghouse washer and dryer only $6,750
8' wide, 45' long, with washer and spin dryer $5,250

Triangle Service Station & Trailer Sales

IT'S HERE!
The new 1958 leisure home. Three beautiful all new models. 45 ft. 3 bedrooms, 10' wide is breathtakingly beautiful, also the 45 ft. 3-bedroom, 8' wide and the all new re-styled inside and out 41 ft. 2-bedroom model is new and exciting in every way.
We do not advertise our trailers as the lowest priced, they are just slightly higher than the lowest priced, but for the little extra in cost we offer quality usually found only in the real high priced mobile homes. Before you buy, check the workmanship in the various trailers, you will know at a glance why leisure home is the most wanted and biggest seller on the market today.

NATO Leader Urges Store Of A-Weapons

LONDON (UP)—NATO Secretary-General Paul Henri Spaak yesterday called for the formation of a NATO atomic weapons stockpile under control of Supreme Commander Gen. Lauris Norstad.

Spaak, who arrived yesterday from talks with President Eisenhower and other U.S. leaders, told a press conference that in his view atomic weapons should be delivered in the future to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "as a whole."

These weapons and the decision on their use in emergency should be, as before, under control of NATO supreme commander and under direction of the NATO council.

Moreover, Spaak called for a broad pooling of arms research within the 15-member NATO alliance.

Manager Bound, Bank Looted

MONTREAL (BUP)—Three gunmen forced a bank manager Monday night to open the safe, then tied him up along with his wife and daughter and escaped with $10,000.

The robbery occurred at St. Simon de Bagot, 50 miles east of here.

The manger, A. Guerin, quickly freed himself and called police.

U.S., Russia Find Road To New Talks

NATHAN SHEFFERMAN
. . . a sudden silence

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United States and Russia were reported Tuesday night to have agreed to a plan under which the United Nations disarmament commission would be increased by 10 members. This would clear the way for Russia's return to negotiations.

Britain and Canada are understood to be in favor of the plan. France was said to be undecided but speculation was that she, too, would agree to the idea.

Earlier Tuesday in the General Assembly's political committee, Soviet satellite delegations threw in support for Russia's attitude of withdrawing from all UN machinery dealing with disarmament.

The resumption of speeches in the committee headed off voting on which of the 10 resolutions on the issue will be passed up to the parent assembly, and at the conclusion Tuesday Mexico offered a new solution.

The Mexican idea, while welcomed in principle by Western spokesmen, was not regarded as having much hope of approval.

It called for a commissioner "who should be an outstanding international personality, be appointed upon the unanimous recommendation of the members of the disarmament subcommittee" to act as a mediator.

Muttnik contined its flights around the world yesterday unspotted by local observers.

Horace Draper, official photographer for the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, failed to sight the satellite yesterday morning.

However, he will try again every clear morning this week.

Edward Argyle, electronics expert at the observatory, said he had not heard any definite signal from the satellite since Sunday.

The signal was also picked up Sunday by radio operator OB John Shillington aboard the RCN laboratory vessel HMCS Oshawa from 4.25 to 4.29 p.m. It was "very clear and precise, a continuous series of very short peeps."

Mayor Socked

He Failed To Turn Other Jaw

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (BUP) — The minister-mayor of Portage la Prairie, Man., Rev. H. L. Henderson, plans to lay charges against consulting engineer Clyde McBain who allegedly punched him in the jaw.

The clergyman said yesterday the fracas took place in the mayor's office. The mayor said he wanted to lay charges of assault occasioning actual body harm, but he arrived at court too late.

The clergyman said McBain, an engineer of the consulting firm of Underwood & McLellan of Winnipeg, which was hired by Portage to handle a water and sewer job in the city's west end, was fired immediately by his employer.

"He just hauled off and walloped me on the chin," said Mayor Henderson. "I immediately called the police and by the time they got to my office, McBain had gone. I wasn't knocked down. I know what to do in a situation like that."
